—The young ladies of the M. F. C. gave a "tackey" party Thursday night. There were no invited guests, only the inmates of the institution present. Each young lady endeavored to excel, some of them were tackey enough. The prize was awarded to Miss Hoskins, who represented a mountain widow with eight children, the oldest of a marriageable age. The prize was delivered to the young lady in an appropriate address by Mr. Wallace Shannon.

—The School Improvement League gave a spelling bee and box social at the public school building Friday evening from 7 to 9:30, which was well attended.

tended. The entertainment was of unusual interest inasmuch as it has been a long time since we have had anything of the kind. Miss M. B. Clark and Mr. J. G. Smedley were selected as captain and almost everyone took part in the exercises. The words were given out by Major R. A. Burton. Prof. C. C. Fisher acted as referee. As they began falling out of line one by one the interest increased and for quite a while there were only four on the floor, Misses M. B. Clark and Ruth McClintock on one side; Mrs. Annie Jefferson and little Miss Helen Walker Clark on the other. The interest centered in little Miss Clark, who was the youngest participant on the floor and who as a delicate girl has been much handicapped in school. She was next to the last to go down and by the time she failed the interest was at a high pitch. She was soon followed by Miss Ruth McClintock, leaving the honors of the evening to Mrs. Annie Jefferson. Little Miss Clark is a granddaughter, of Mrs. Louise Clark, and come from a long line of cultured ancestors. She concentrates every effort on what she has to do and does it well. She gives promise of a bright future. After the spelling bee, Elder W. A. Gardner sold the boxes at 25 cents each. Most of them were taken away and enjoyed as ten o'clock lunch. The entertainment will be repeated in the near future.

Tobacco Growers Endorse Lebus

President Clarence Lebus of the Burley Tobacco Society, Friday received a copy of the following resolutions passed at the meeting of tobacco growers in Elizabethtown:

Elizabethtown, Ky., Nov. 24, 1909.

"We, the burley tobacco growers in convention assembled at Elizabethtown representing the tobacco growers in what is known as the Elizabethtown District, respectively, Hart, Hardin, LaRue, Green, Metcalf, Breckenridge, Meade, Bullitt, Taylor, Barren, Adair, Grayson counties, resolve follows:

Whereas, being deeply sensible of the fact that the pooling of the 1906 and 1907 crops of burley tobacco raised the price of tobacco one hundred per cent in this our district, thereby benefiting us and all growers, and whereas,

"We also recognize that the only proper means of permanently establishing a profitable price is through a close organization, and whereas,

"We are indebted to the growers of Central Kentucky for the enhanced prices on our product beg to resolve as follows:

"First—We appreciate their sacrifice and we acknowledge that we have been a millstone about their neck in their efforts but take this means of assuring them that we are now with them in this fight, although it may seem that we have been a little slow in getting up to the firing line.

"Secondly—Now that we are in the front ranks we propose to assure them that we will strain every effort to do more than to hold up our end of the log and will be found at the roll call holding our 1909 crop.

"Thirdly—Although certain things have transpired in the last few days that would ordinarily cause uneasiness within our ranks, we want it distinctly understood that we still have unlimited confidence in our matchless leader, Clarence Lebus, and the whole executive committee, and say to him and his Board to fight it out on this line and we are behind him until we have crossed the Rubicon.

"Fourthly—It is further resolved that copies of this resolution be furnished the various county papers of the Elizabethtown District, the Louisville Daily and evening papers and a copy sent to Mr. Lebus and his Executive Committee.

THEATRICAL.

"THE WIZARD OF WISELAND."

One of the big musical successes of the season is the new, two act farcical extravaganza, "The Wizard of Wiseland," the book by Eunice Fitch and Harry Scott, the score and lyrics by Livy Leo Lazelle. The instantaneous success gained by this merry offering is said to be due to a clear and well wrought out plot and to the excellence of the music, the standard of the latter, according to several critics, reaching that of light opera. The piece is heralded as being exceedingly rich in lyrics, which include solos, duets, trios and quartettes, some of the artistic kind that force their way into parlor and drawing room and others that are hummed and whistled everywhere.

The story is just as original as the title. The graduating class of a young ladies seminary through the properties of a potion prepared by their professor of chemistry and which they drink while unanimously wishing for the same thing, are transported during a short sleep to a wonderful island, where "pebbles are pearls and flowers are girls," and where a benignant fairy queen takes them in charge and promotes one to the dignity of "The Wizard of Wiseland." The peculiar conditions prevailing in Wiseland cause comical confusion for a time as everything in the disposition and circumstance of each individual is reversed. The results can be imagined when it is remembered that the young ladies have had their love experiences and their men companions theirs. In the end, all are eager to get back to their former surroundings, a wish which the good fairy gratifies by a wave of her wand.

It can be readily seen that there are great opportunities for the display of ingenious and intricate scenic art in the stage settings, as well as of weird and beautiful transformations and of bewildering (and fascinating) costumes. Over 400 costumes are used in the presentation, owing to the great variety called for.

"The Wizard of Wiseland" will be seen at the Paris Grand Tuesday evening, Nov. 30. A talented company of singers and players with a large and efficient chorus and well trained ballet are promised in the presentation here.

"THE WOLF."

"The Wolf," the powerful play of the Hudson Bay fur country by Eugene Walter, which the Messrs. Shubert will present at the Paris Grand, Tuesday, Dec. 7, with an all star cast, comes here from brilliant successes at the Lyric Theatre in New York and at the grand opera house, Chicago, and a return engagement in New York this season.

This drama, which is in three acts and three scenes, possesses many novelties, and is fraught with intense human interest. It is a story of the far North. The treatment of the theme—the attempt of an American railway engineer to betray the daughter of a Scotch settler with whom a young French-Canadian is in love—is handled boldly yet skillfully by Mr. Walter, who has provided at least one climax that takes rank with the most thrilling ever devised for the American stage. It is the duel in the dark, in which the victor is only distinguished by the glimmer of a match.

The Messrs. Shubert have provided an all star cast, each of the six characters being ideally cast.

"TEMPEST AND SUNSHINE."

"Tempest and Sunshine," a dramatization of Mary J. Holmes' popular novel, to be seen at the Paris Grand on Thursday Dec. 9, is a play full of genuine heart interest, and is full of exciting scenes and surprising climaxes. It has an interesting plot and holds the audience spell-bound through the four acts. It is acted by a company of performers, specially engaged of each and every part of such a production, which, together with the vast amount of new and beautiful scenery, keeps the audience in a suppressed state of excitement. It is a play that appeals to the innermost recesses of the heart, hence its wonderful success.
